

Members have the following rights:

- participate in the administration of NMTA;
- receive information about the actions of NMTA, as well as view protocols from the meetings, decisions, resolutions and instructions of NMTA institutions;
- participate in all events hosted and organized by the NMTA, propose suggestions on the operation and actions of NMTA, defend one's opinion;
- participate in the NMTA board and revision institution elections, as well as become elected according to the articles of NMTA;
- submit suggestions and proposals to NMTA administrative institutions, which are obliged to consider these proposals.

Responsibilities of members:

- abide the articles of NMTA and the decisions made by the board and during the meetings of the association;
- pay the membership fee regularly and according to the rules;
- support the goals and tasks of NMTA by active participation;
- attend the members' meetings;
- remain confidential, when revealing information can be harmful to the interests of NMTA.

Obligations can be set with a decision of the NMTA Members Assembly or the board. When obligations that are different from the regular member's obligations are set to a particular member, a written consent of this member is required.